1. Purpose. To issue policy and define the key elements of the SPAWAR Sponsor Program.

2. Cancellation. SPAWARINST 1330.1A.

3. Goals. References (a) and (b) establish the Navy Sponsor Program. This directive implements, and is designed to maintain an ongoing, viable sponsor program for SPAWAR.

4. Policy and Procedures. All personnel will be afforded the services of an officially designated sponsor from the time of receipt of orders until they attend SMART START after they have reported aboard.

a. First impressions are very important, and every effort should be made to provide an orderly transition. If possible, sponsors will meet incoming members upon arrival. To the best extent practicable, personnel assigned as sponsors should not be sent TEMADD or given regular leave during the time frame that the incoming individual is expected to arrive. Sponsors will ensure that members are assisted to the maximum extent possible in securing appropriate quarters, both temporary and permanent.

b. After reporting, new members usually need time to organize their personal affairs before commencing duty. Acquiring transportation and quarters are normal priorities of new arrivals. If a member did not take a permissive TEMADD house-hunting trip, as authorized by reference (c) prior to reporting and is entitled to reside ashore, he/she may be authorized special liberty for house hunting purposes.

SPAWARINST 1330.1B

5. Action

a. Military Resources Management Division (SPAWAR 10-18)

(1) Notify the appropriate Directorate/PMW of scheduled assignment of member and request a designated sponsor via enclosure (1).

(2) Provide Directorate/PMW and designated sponsor with a copy of member's orders.

(3) Prepare/track/include "Welcome Aboard" letter signed by SPAWAR 00 for incoming officer/enlisted personnel with information package and mail within five working days after formal notification of orders and sponsor assignment. See enclosures (2) and (3) for example.

(4) Arrange personal interviews as appropriate or desired.

(5) Keep Directorate/PMW posted on status of incoming/outgoing personnel who are in receipt of orders reporting to/departing from SPAWAR.

b. Directorate/PMW

(1) Designate a sponsor who is willing and capable of carrying out this duty in a positive manner. Sponsorship is not "liberty," it's an official duty and should be treated as such. If that's not possible, assign someone else. This responsibility must be exercised also for personnel reporting to SPAWAR detachments.

(2) Ensure that office space and equipment are available, as required, and that duties and responsibilities are clearly explained.

(3) Forward a completed copy of enclosure (1) to SPAWAR 10-18 upon sponsor designation.

c. Sponsor

(1) Within five working days of sponsor designation, communicate with the military member and provide assistance to the member and his/her family as requested. See enclosures (4) and (5) for assistance/guidelines.

SPAWARINST 1330.1B
24 October 1994

(2) In coordination with Directorate/PMW, arrange indoctrination/orientation schedule for new member.

(3) Provide input as necessary to SPAWAR 10-18 to implement a stronger, more effective sponsor program.

d. SPAWAR activities. Activities will implement a sponsor program per references (a) and (b).

6. Evaluation and Feedback

a. The Military Resources Management Division (SPAWAR 10-18) will employ the Sponsor Program Evaluation Form (enclosure (6)) as the primary vehicle to elicit information on the overall effectiveness of the Command's Sponsor Program.

b. The Command Master Chief (SPAWAR OOM) will critique program effectiveness and make recommendations for enhancement.

c. Directorate/PMW will evaluate the effectiveness within their areas and properly reflect individual contributions to the success of the program, as well as shortcomings.

Chief
USS SILVERSIDES (SSN 679)

Dear ,

I would like to welcome you to the Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command, or SPAWAR. We are located in the beautiful downtown Crystal City area of Arlington, Virginia, just minutes from the Pentagon and BUPERS.

We are an echelon II command, commanded by Rear Admiral W. H. Cantrell. Our HQ staff is primarily civilian, but we have approximately 320 military personnel, with about 25% being enlisted. As you can see, this is a top-heavy command, and our work routine depends on several factors, not the least of which is personal initiative and resourcefulness. Long hours are normal, and, depending on your assignment, travel can be extensive.

A Systems Command is a "culture" all its own; there will be a bit of a "culture shock," and it will take awhile to adjust. There is a lot to learn and do here at SPAWAR, and you won't have the normal daily routine found at most Navy commands. However, the uniqueness doesn't change the fact that we are sailors, and there are many opportunities to enjoy the same kinds of things you have found at other duty stations. It will all depend on you.

Again, I'd like to welcome you to SPAWAR. You will get more information from your sponsor and again when you arrive. In the meantime, feel free to contact me if you have any questions or concerns. My numbers are:

(703) 602-7550

DSN: 332-7550

FAX: (703) 602-5005

YNC(SW) Randy Temple can also be reached at 602-7555; or you may call CTAC Peggy Pontisso at 602-3739.

I look forward to meeting you! Welcome aboard!!

Sincerely,

J. A. HARMON
Command Master Chief

WELCOME TO DC!

Hello and Welcome!

My name is Robin Smith and I serve as the Command Ombudsman for the Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command in Washington DC. Congratulations on your orders to DC. I think you will find it a challenging tour, unlike any you've ever had! In addition to an exciting assignment, the local community is "resource rich" with places to go, things to do and people to meet.

Washington DC is a city of monuments and a celebration of America's heritage. You can wander through museums rich with history, both ours and others. Relax in one of many parks and zoos. Enjoy the excitement of the nightlife or immerse yourself in the quiet country side only a short drive from the city. Whatever your particular interests, this a city that truly has something for everyone.

Let me take a minute to explain the Ombudsman program and how it works here at SPAWAR. The Ombudsman program was established in 1980 as an avenue for Navy wives to voice and share concerns about Navy life. The program has experienced many changes over the years to stay in tune with the Navy environment. Currently, the program is funded, supported and belongs to each individual command. This allows for flexibility for each command to develop it's own program to best meet the needs of their sailors and families. I am considered a representative of the command and work within the command structure to provide services and information to you and/or your family. Part of my job also is to help the command identify the issues that affect us and our families and provide them resources and services to address those issues. As part of the Navy TEAM, I provide a link between the Command and it's families. Let me define family here...Family in this sense is the Navy Family. Anyone that carries an I.D. card is considered part of the "Family". (Which explains why this letter is part of all welcome aboard packages!)

So now that you've had a little history lesson, how does this program work? The Ombudsman program was designed to provide regular, accurate and direct communication between the command, sailors and their families. We accomplish that at SPAWAR with regular monthly newsletters, GMT's and active participation in command functions. I am here to provide information, outreach and referral and act as an advocate for sailors and their families. Together we will explore the issues and options for resources. If necessary, I can help you access the appropriate level of the chain of command to resolve issues. Not to say we'll circumvent the system, but we will use the system to accomplish and meet our needs.

I am also available to just let people vent their problems or issues in a non-threatening environment. Often we just need to let off steam. Call me! As a supervisor, if you think one of your people has stuff "going on" and you can't (or aren't) comfortable approaching them, give me a call! One of my objectives is to make the sailors at SPAWAR as productive and effective as possible. That's hard to do if they are worried about money or family issues. Let me help! Confidentiality is the most crucial part of this program. I will maintain your confidences as long as no one is a threat to themselves, others or national security.

Transition can be a very stressful time for anyone. Fortunately, there are programs in place to help ease the stress and burdens for sailors and families moving from place to place. Your sponsor can provide you with information on the command and local communities, and will play a vital role in a positive and comfortable PCS move. I am also available to provide as much logistic and emotional support and information as I can.

Now that you know a little bit more about the program and me, I'd like to learn more about you! Attached is an information form for you to complete and return to me. I would appreciate one from everyone in the command, not just those with families. You can return them via your sponsor or mail them directly to me (13180 Langley Road, Bryantown MD 20617). If you have questions or need specific or additional information, please call me. I can be reached at work (I work at the Bolling AFB Family Support Center) (202) 767-0450, DSN 297-6280 or at home after 5pm (301) 274-9522. I look forward to meeting each of you and your families!

Until then....
